WORLD FOOD INDIA 2019

Intends to establish global linkages and facilitate foreign investment in India's USD 915 billion farm-to-fork ecosystem. World Food India is designed to offer an unusual peek into India's food and culture as well as opportunities to invest and prosper from one of the world's largest consumer markets. India's rising disposable income has fueled the growth of the world's largest consumer market. The country is amongst the largest producers and consumers of food in the world, opening up huge opportunities for specific post-harvest management technology suppliers, cold chain infrastructure and refrigerated transport players to process food produce and for retail chains.

World Food India strives to attract the world's best food processing companies and give them a golden opportunity to harvest growth and reap profits from the world's fastest growing economy.
