

Advisory for Indian Nationals travelling to Malaysia

Consequent to the opening of the regular international air travel to Malaysia, instances have come to the notice of the High Commission of India that several Indian nationals have been issued the 'Not to land' (NTL) by the Malaysian Immigration authorities at the International airport of entry in Malaysia, thus denying them entry into Malaysia. Reasons for issuing NTL include (a) lacking sufficient funds, (b) verifiable proof of accommodation, (c) genuine return air tickets, among others. In such cases, the Indian nationals have to remain inside the Kuala Lumpur International Airport (KLIA) till the airlines which brought them to Malaysia repatriates them back to the airport in India from where they have boarded the flights. This leads to passengers remain stranded at KLIA till their repatriation, causing undue hardships, which is surely avoidable.

All Indian nationals planning a visit to Malaysia are, therefore, advised to strictly follow all guidelines and comply with entry related requirements issued by the Government of Malaysia, particularly the proof of sufficient funds, verifiable proof of accommodation, and genuine return air tickets.
